Formazione, Occupabilità, Inserimento lavorativo: QUALI SERVIZI PER IL LAVORO?

Country of the event/activity: Italy

Town: Verona

From/until: 22/10/2020

Description of the event/activity (in English)

In a scenario marked by continuous changes (fourth industrial revolution, demographic change, changing consumer needs) collaboration between the public and private sectors can improve people's future and economic prospects. How? By improving education, increasing jobs and skills.

The seminar aims to help us contextualize these global changes by placing them in the reality of Veneto, one of the most dynamic regions of our country. In particular, we will try to answer some questions: in this area, in which types of activities should public resources be concentrated? Can the Next Generation EU make an important contribution? What priorities should employment services and training have?

In uno scenario scandito da continui mutamenti (quarta rivoluzione industriale, cambiamento demografico, mutevoli esigenze dei consumatori) la collaborazione tra il settore pubblico e quello privato può migliorare il futuro delle persone e le prospettive economiche. Come? Migliorando l'istruzione, aumentando i posti di lavoro e potenziando le competenze.

Il seminario vuole aiutarci a contestualizzare questi mutamenti globali calandoli nella realtà del Veneto, una delle regioni più dinamiche del nostro Paese. In particolare, cercheremo di rispondere ad alcuni interrogativi: in questo ambito, in quali tipologie di attività devono essere concentrate le risorse pubbliche? Il Next Generation EU può dare un contributo importante? Quali priorità devono avere i servizi per il lavoro e, in essi, la formazione?

Description of the event/activity (in your official national language/s)

L'evento è organizzato nell'ambito della conferenza di EfVET (European Forum for Vocational Education and Training) e ha l'obiettivo di presentare i primi due Output del progetto ESW-Early School Workers.

I sistemi formativi di molti paesi hanno bisogno di un profondo rinnovamento per rimanere competitivi. Servono approcci innovativi per combattere il fenomeno dell' Early School Leaving (ESL) e del mancato raggiungimento di competenze chiave da parte dei giovani.

Il modello delle UTC inglesi sembra in grado di rispondere a queste nuove sfide. Si tratta di un gruppo di scuole professionali che stanno attuando un approccio pedagogico fortemente centrato sulle attività degli studenti, secondo il modello del Project Based Learning.

Ogni UTC, in collaborazione con un'università locale e con aziende, lavora per sviluppare un curriculum che permetta agli studenti di fare esperienze simili a quelle che vivrebbero dopo la scuola, integrando, inoltre, tre tipi di apprendimento: tecnico, pratico e accademico.

Tutti gli aspetti della vita di questi college sono costruiti intorno a una specifica metodologia chiamata PiXL Edge, ovvero un modello che consente agli studenti di sviluppare abilità utili per il resto della vita e per la loro futura attività professionale (Leadership, Organisation, Communication, Initiative and Resilience).

Il progetto prevede 4 fasi a cui corrispondono quattro specifici output, due dei quali saranno presentati durante l'evento:

- Elaborare un modello di trasferibilità del modello delle UTC inglesi;

- Trasferire il modello e adattarlo in VET centre di altri paesi progettando dei percorsi formativi (curriculum) per settore e filiera professionale combinando gli standard nazionali e gli elementi di innovatività delle scuole inglesi;
- Testare e portare a regime tale modello, ovvero validare e adottare il modello delle UTC in alcuni VET centre selezionati in Italia, Spagna e Germania;
- Monitoraggio e valutazione dei risultati di apprendimento.

FARE FORMAZIONE OGGI, tra dinamiche di complessità e orizzonti di senso

Country of the event/activity: Italy

Town: Fidenza

From/until: 24/11/2020

Description of the event/activity (in English)

The event will focus on some common aspects of all training activities. First of all, all those involved in training face a common destiny: deal with changes and uncertainties. Secondly, training can contribute to the social and economical development, together with multidimensional growing of the person and a job culture centered on human dignity.

The two main challenges of the training will then be: to give people the proper tools to face the increasing complexity and, at the same time, propose meaningful directions. It is therefore necessary to develop, together with technical and professional competences, also and mainly "human" qualities to deal with uncertainty and complexity.

Description of the event/activity (in your official national language/s)

L'azione formativa - sia questa rivolta ai giovani o agli adulti, a chi vuole entrare nel mondo del lavoro o a chi il lavoro ce l'ha già, ai tecnici o ai manager, alle persone più fragili così come a quelle con maggiori opportunità - presenta alcuni tratti costanti. In primo luogo tutti i variegati destinatari della formazione presentano un comune destino, che è quello di dover convivere con i cambiamenti e le insicurezze. In seconda istanza la formazione, nelle sue diverse filiere e declinazioni, può concorrere a promuovere le sue visioni di sviluppo sociale ed economico, di apprendimento e di crescita integrale e multidimensionale della persona, oltre ad una cultura del lavoro centrata sulla dignità umana.

Ecco allora configurarsi le due grandi sfide della formazione, attrezzare le persone ad affrontare la crescente complessità e, al contempo, proporre sue direzioni di senso. Occorre dunque sviluppare, accanto a competenze tecniche e più prettamente professionali, quelle qualità umane necessarie per affrontare scenari di incertezza e di complessità, secondo traiettorie orientate all'etica sociale ed alla cura dei beni comuni.
